PEOPLE OF BLAIRMORE AND BELLEVUE WILL DEMONSTRATE

Declaring that he would head any lawful demonstration or parade that would bring to the attention of the provincial and federal governments the plight of the Blairmore and Bellevue miners, due to the extreme slack work, E. O. Duke, M.L.A., addressed a meeting of Blairmore citizens on Thursday evening last. The meeting was called for the purpose of discussing ways and means of bringing to the senior governments' attention the need of action in alleviating the serious problem that has arisen because of continued slack work, and voted almost unanimously to hold a gigantic demonstration, to which business men, professional men, school children and others affected would be invited to participate.

The following committee was chosen to formulate plans for the demonstration: Rev. A. E. Larke, T. J. Williams, J. Packer, Mayor Williams, J. Kerr, S. G. Bannan, D. McPherson and Robert Oakes.

Mr. Duke claimed that immediate action should be taken by the federal government in replacing the American coal sold in Ontario by Alberta coal.

Word was received by Mrs. Hottle over the week end that Mrs. Carrie Hottle, mother of Mr. Floyd Hottle, had passed away at Bethlehem, Pennsylvania, on Wednesday, May the 19th. Mr. Hottle attended the funeral of his mother.

Mrs. J. T. Cooper, of Nanaimo, visited her daughter, Mrs. G. C. Nurbome, and Mr. Nurbome at Coleman, en route to visit in Vancouver. On their return, Mrs. Nurbome will accompany them back to Nanaimo for a month or so.

The birthday of King George VI. will be celebrated on Wednesday, June 9, according to a proclamation issued by the Dominion government and concurred in by the province. Actually His Majesty's birthday falls on December 14th.

Considerable building activity is being witnessed in Blairmore at the present time. Several new residences are in course of construction, and many others are being improved by various additions, including the popular glass porches.

At the smoker following the First Aid contests at Coleman on Monday night, the insignia of a Serving Brother of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem was presented to Mr. M. H. Congdon, secretary of the First Aid meet, by Mr. Robert Oakes, of Blairmore.

Beside the cup awarded the McGillivray team as first prize in the First Aid competition at Coleman, other prizes were handsome watches to members of the winning team, and leather club bags to Cammore; travelling sets to Hillcrest No. 1, and first aid kits to Hillcrest No. 2 and Thompson's (Blairmore).

Addressing a meeting at Staveley on Saturday, Hon. Fallow asserted that members of the civil service are getting a squarer deal than ever before in Alberta. He also paid his respects to the daily press, charging "the yellow journalism of some of our daily papers" is the greatest barrier to human progress today.

Nearly everything has gone the opposite to what the majority of the people voted for in the last provincial election. Purchasing power has decreased at an alarming rate, and increased taxation, and cost of living are up, and yet last week Premier Abernethy publicly said "he had not

MACHIONE TO DIE AUGUST 5

The assize court jury at Cranbrook on Friday last convicted Vincent Macchione of murdering Michael Hudock near Fernie last February. Macchione was forthwith sentenced to hang on August 5th next.

Hudock's body, with the throat gashed, was found on a riverbank west of Fernie the day after he and his wife had made a trip from their Michel home to Fernie with Macchione. Mrs. Hudock testified she had been guilty of misconduct with Macchione several times, and her relations with the accused had led to quarrels with her husband.

She told the jury from the witness box that she had overheard Macchione moaning "I killed him. I killed him," while driving her home alone from Fernie when her husband failed to appear.

Attorney-General J. W. Huggill, Lieutenant Commissioner Mason, Deputy Attorney-General G. B. Henwood and W. Forbes, registrar, were visitors to Waterton Park and Pincher Creek on Tuesday.

Members of the Coleman board of school trustees have voiced their disapproval of renewal of contract with Mr. W. G. Moffatt as supervisor of music teaching in the schools. Coleman's portion of the cost for the past year was around $751 which the board feels is too great a cost.

A small biplane, owned by the Brisbane Aviation Company branch at High River, crashed at the North Battleford (Sask.) airfield on Tuesday, killing both its occupants, Pilot Fred Russenbuck and Charles Dube, a passenger. Russenbuck was a High River man.

Lord Tweedsmuir, governor general of Canada, will attend the Calgary Stampede this coming summer and will wear full cowboy regalia while there. He should spend a few hours each day astride a barrel to get the proper bow in his legs.—Brooks Bulletin.

Principal H. P. Thoreson, of the Wainwright school, and Miss Grace Welch, of the High River school, will be among those appointed by the department to correct school examination papers in July at Edmonton. Mr. Thoreson was at one time a member of the Blairmore teaching staff.

Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Trono and Miss Beatrice, and Miss L. Brunetto, were motor visitors to Great Falls, Montana, on Sunday and Monday. At the international boundary they had the pleasure of meeting William Roberts formerly of Blairmore, who is customs and immigration officer at Coultas.

Addressing a meeting at Staveley on Saturday, Hon. Fallow asserted that members of the civil service are getting a squarer deal than ever before in Alberta. He also paid his respects to the daily press, charging "the yellow journalism of some of our daily papers" is the greatest barrier to human progress today.

SCHOOLS TRACK MEET AT NATAL JUNE 24th

The annual track meet of the Crows' Nest Pass School Athletic Association will be held in Natal-Mirhol on Saturday, June 24th.

Invitations have been sent out to 22 different schools, which include the territory from Crows' Nest to Newgate, inclusive.

In all, eighteen trophies, which were donated by business men a few years ago, will be competed for.

The track meet will be held on the Great Northern cinder track in Natal, which is being rapidly put into shape.

THE SMALL AND THE GREAT

It is not often the Department of National Revenue receive a remittance of conscience money of the small amount of twenty-two cents, but the collector at Montreal recently received that sum. He also received during the fiscal year just ended the following amounts: $33.92, $20, $37.50 and $4. These were placed to the credit of the receiver general in the usual way.

Mr. C. F. Elliott, commissioner of income tax, received from the inspector of income tax, Montreal, under date of April 13th, 1937, an envelope postmarked "Chicago, Ill., April 19," containing eight twenty-dollar federal reserve notes of the United States of America. This has been treated as conscience money.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Buchanan celebrate their diamond wedding anniversary at Pincher Creek on Friday last, May the 21st. Both are past the four score years mark.

Vincent Macchione, under death sentence, escaped from a Canadian Pacific train conveying him to Vancouver from Nelson on Monday. He was recaptured in short time, and was taken to Vancouver on the next train to await execution on August 5th at the Okalla prison farm.

Thirty three years ago, D. C. Coleman, who was chief clerk for G. J. Bury, when that gentleman was superintendent at Cranbrook, had been slated for promotion, and was to take charge of one of the western divisions. Mr. Coleman was married to a former Cranbrook lady, Miss Annie Grant.

Joe McDougall, of the West Canadian Collieries' office staff, has been advised by the International Accountants and Executives Corporation of Canada that he passed all tests and requirements for membership and has been admitted as a member with the degree of Fellow, and the letters F.A.E. conferred upon him.

A pretty wedding took place in the Holy Ghost church at Coleman on the 15th, when Miss Rose Cerney, of Frank, became the bride of Mr. Frank Rymann, of West Coleman. The Rev. Father Dunbar officiated. The bride was attended by Miss Annie Dvorak and Miss Julia Patera, while the groom was supported by Mr. Alois Kryvwit and Mr. Vincel Cerney. At the conclusion of the service, a reception was held at the home of the groom's parents.

Asking members of social credit groups throughout Alberta if they wished Abernethy to resign as premier, a three-point questionnaire, designed to ascertain the attitude of Alberta Social Credit League members, is being circulated by the league. The questions follow: 1. Do you wish Abernethy to resign as premier? 2. Are you in favor of your M.L.A. supporting the present government? 3. What action do you want taken in connection with debt settlement: (a) to reduce principal 50 per cent; (b) as under the federal Farmers' Creditors Arrangement Act; (c) to adjust each individual case on its merits.

MRS MARION E. WOOD PASSES

Mrs. Marion Elva Wood, beloved wife of Rev. John Wood, of Hillcrest, formerly of Calder, Alberta, passed away in Edmonton on Friday last, May 21st, at the age of forty-eight years. She had been ill for several months.

Mrs. Wood leaves to mourn her loss, besides her loving husband, one daughter and two sons, Marion Elva, Jack and Ernest, all residing at Hillcrest; her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Welbourn, of Winterburn; one sister, Mrs. W. (Jean) Hutchinson, of San Francisco; four brothers, Charles, Frank, John and Robert Welbourn, all of Winterburn. Two other brothers, Ernest Russell and George Edmund Welbourn, were killed in action in 1916 in the Great War.

The funeral took place on Tuesday afternoon from the Andrews Bros' chapel in Edmonton, and interment was made in the Edmonton cemetery. Rev. J. W. Smith, formerly of Blairmore, conducted the service, assisted by Rev. Dr. Rosburgh, of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church (Edmonton) and the Rev. Mr. Seiber, pastor of the Winterburn church. Rev. Mr. Wood himself conducted the brief service at the graveside. Mrs. Wood's four brothers acted as pallbearers.

General expressions of sympathy are extended to Rev. Mr. Wood and his family in their bereavement.

The Pincher Creek Echo remarks: Some of the "big shots" in the provincial government have been going through town lately. They don't seem to waste much time with the "little shots" now.

In the First Aid contests at Coleman on Monday, results were as follows: McGillivray, first; Cammore, second; Hillcrest No. 1, third; Hillcrest No. 2, fourth; Thompson's (Blairmore) fifth; International sixth; Bellevue, seventh; Coleman St. John Ambulance, eighth; Greenhill ninth, and Mohawk, tenth. The McGillivray team was captained by Archie McCulloch, and the team comprised W. Lonsbury, A. S. McIntock, T. Brennan and Joe Simla.

The death occurred at Hillcrest on Sunday morning of Mrs. David Harris, aged 64, who had been a resident of the town since 1913. She was a native of New Tredegar, Wales, and is survived by a son, Dick, in Hillcrest, and a daughter, Mrs. Irene Taylor, of Vancouver. A son, David, was killed in the Hillcrest explosion in 1914, and a daughter, Margaret, died in 1920. Her husband predeceased her several years ago. The remains were laid to rest in the K.P. plot in the Hillcrest cemetery on Wednesday afternoon. Funeral arrangements were in charge of A. E. Ferguson, of the Crows' Nest Funeral Home.

COMMUNISTS AND C.I.O.

Last week's expose in The Financial Post of the manner in which the Communist organizations in Canada have turned their whole machinery over to the C.I.O. has created consternation in Communist circles, where it was thought that these activities were well covered up.

The Daily Clarion, the Communist's own newspaper, declares The Post's article to be a "fabrication" published by "the most brazen of falsifiers." It accuses The Financial Post of attempting "to delineate an imaginary interconnection between the Communist party and the Committee for Industrial Organization."

"The interconnection" is not imaginary at all. Day by day for months past, the Clarion itself has been publishing the evidence of the Communist-C.I.O. link. It provides further evidence in its current issue. After charging The Post with making up Sunday stories, it says naively that the Communists "made no secret of their support of the C.I.O."—Financial Post.

THE AGE OF RUBBER

According to H. Eric Miller, chairman of the United Serdag (Sumatra) Rubber Plantations, it took 375,000 tons of rubber to manufacture 70,000,000 tires and 74,000,000 tubes for motor cars in 1929, whereas it took 130,000 tons to make only 58,000,000 tires in 1936.

EXECUTION OF PLOTTERS TAKES PLACE IN RUSSIA

Moscow.—Execution of 43 men and one woman for plotting railway wrecks in Siberian military areas was announced in a terse communique published by the newspaper Pacific Star at Khabarovsk in Siberia.

The communique said the military collegium of the supreme court determined the 44, all Russians, acted at "the orders of the Japanese secret service" and that they were followers of the exiled Leon Trotsky, one-time war criminal now in Mexico. The entire case east of Bialka is considered of vital military importance to Russia, and agents arrested the group after investigations throughout that area.

The executions by firing squads were at Svobodny 11 days ago. Officials here said they could add no details.

The executions were the largest in number within the past three years. (130 were executed in 1934, after the assassination of Sergei M. Kiroff, chief aide to Joseph Stalin.)

They were the first also since the government's drive against the oppositionists began two months ago. Thousands of suspects are believed to be under arrest throughout the nation and the Russian press has been enlisted in the drive to warn citizens to guard against supposed secret agents.

Citizens are cautioned against discussing confidential information, to avoid foreigners, and to guard carefully important papers and official seals or stamps, if they are government employees.

Diplomatic officials and foreigners on recognized business say they are finding their Russian contacts increasingly limited and that conversation more and more must be confined to generalities.

The press has directed the brunt of its charges against Germany and Japan whose agents are alleged to swarm the country.

The official newspaper Pravda relates spies pose as Russian agents adept in the language, work in industries, marry Soviet girls to obtain information, then divorce them to marry someone else and gain more information.

May Head Air Line

Donald R. MacLaren, Noted War Ace, Joins Administration Staff

Moscow.—A famed Canadian war-time pilot, credited with shooting down 48 enemy planes and six service balloons during the Great War, joined the administration staff of the government-owned trans-Canada air line.

Transport Minister C. D. Howe announced appointment of Donald R. MacLaren, at present Pacific division manager of Canadian Airways, after a conference with executives of the Canadian National Railways.

Though MacLaren's name has been mentioned prominently as general manager of the new line expected to begin operations late this summer, the minister did not say the noted aviator had been appointed to any specific job. "At present," said Mr. Howe, after the two-hour meeting, "he (MacLaren) is doing some preliminary work for us."

MacLaren, who held the rank of wing commander during the war, long has been an advocate of a trans-Canada service. As long ago as 1919, on his return from the war, he was talking about it.

He is well known for his pioneering of the skyways of British Columbia, and his knowledge of the hazardous Rocky Mountain air lines is counted on for help in starting the new service.

Major MacLaren has expressed belief a 20-hour flying service between Vancouver and Halifax is practicable, and for years he has been working toward the time when this schedule might operate.

Arrests in Moscow

Moscow.—The entire secretariat of the Central Trade Union Council, except its chief, U. M. Shvernik, was out of office and classified as "enemies of the people" as the government campaign against Trotskyists and "wreckers" swept through the trade union system. Arrest of the council leaders was announced after a plenary session by Shvernik.

Move To Higher Ground

London, Ont.—Many residents want to move out of the area affected by the disastrous flood three weeks ago. Five home-owners have filed applications for city-owned lots with a view to moving their homes. The city indicated it was agreeable to trading lots on higher ground.

Sabotage In B.C.

Eleven Buildings Destroyed Or Damaged In West Kootenay

Nelson, B.C.—British Columbia police were dispatched to two widely-separated centres in the predominantly Doukhobor-settled West Kootenay interior to investigate possible recurrences of sabotage which has already destroyed or damaged 11 buildings since April 4.

Corporal C. W. A. Barvis was sent to Winlaw, B.C., 10 miles to the northwest, where a farm building was razed. The blaze was reported by C. S. Jones, one of a score of guards posted around schools and public buildings after the April outbreak.

From Castlegar, B.C., 25 miles west, police learned all but one of the clamps holding the mooring cable on the Columbia ferry had been removed. Prompt discovery of the tampering prevented the boat being swept down the swift-running river.

The two investigations began less than 24 hours after provincial officials at Grand Forks, B.C., 80 miles southwest of here, reported a 16-year-old Doukhobor youth had admitted placing obstructions on the main line Canadian Pacific Railway tracks near that town.

No charges have been laid against the youth, pending instruction from British Columbia police headquarters at Victoria.

Jurist To Retire

United States Supreme Court Justice Sends Letter To President

Washington.—Associate Justice Willis Van Devanter informed President Roosevelt he would retire from active service on the United States Supreme Court bench on June 2.

The 78-year-old jurist, who has been known as a member of the so-called Conservative wing of the court, made his intention known in a letter to the president.

Until the beginning of the present term of court last October, Van Devanter had voted against administration action or laws 12 times and for it once in litigation before the tribunal.

This term, however, he voted in line with the administration nine times and against it three times.

Air Mail Across Atlantic

United States Postmaster-General Looks For Service Within A Year

New York.—Trans-Atlantic airmail service will be a reality within a year, James A. Farley, United States postmaster-general, declared here as he opened a new postoffice building in downtown New York.

"The recent splendid achievement of Dick Merrill and John Lambie completed recently."

"Within a year, certainly within the next calendar year, we can expect to have airmail across the Atlantic," Farley said. "This government is co-operating with foreign governments to bring this about."

Simple Ceremony

The Remains Of Viscount Snowden Are Cremated

Woking, Surrey.—The remains of Viscount Snowden—who as Philip Snowden was chancellor of the exchequer in three governments—were cremated at St. John's crematorium here.

The service, which was private, was conducted by Rev. H. J. Taylor of Woking, a friend of the family. He paid tribute to the late chancellor as one who had "done a brave day's work for all the people."

Three Masted Schooner

St. Catharines, Ont.—A three-masted schooner, the Fantome II, private yacht of Hon. Ernest Guinness of London, passed through the Welland canal. With a crew of 32, the vessel crossed the Atlantic in 17½ days and is Chicago-bound. From there she will go on a cruise early next month through the lakes and to New York.

The Former Ensign

London.—"The former ensign" will no longer be so termed in official communications of the British Legion, it was decided at the closing session of the war veterans' annual conference here. It is expected the name of the country referred to will be used instead.

Phone To China

Washington.—Direct radio telephone communication between the United States and China began May 16th in a state department ceremony attended by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and high American and Chinese officials.

RINGING MESSAGE TO THE YOUTH OF THE EMPIRE

London.—Prime Minister Baldwin delivered a ringing message to the youth of the empire, charging them to uphold democracy and defend it against attacks from without and within.

In an address which he termed "the last speech I will make before a great audience as prime minister of this country," Baldwin told them the British empire "neither defers the state nor its rulers."

Canadian boys and girls stood out among the audience of 9,000 in Royal Albert hall by the uniformity of their costume. The boys wore crimson blazers with "Canada" in gold letters on their breast pockets. The girls wore blue skirts and berets, and white jumpers.

The Duke of Gloucester paid a surprise, unscheduled visit to the gathering to deliver a message from the king and queen in which hope was expressed for success of the Empire youth rally. Former colonial secretary Leopold Amery presided.

Baldwin, whose resignation is expected shortly, emphasized the importance of problems that will face future governments, declaring: "It may well be that you will have to save democracy from itself."

"The old doctrine of the divine right of kings has gone but we have no intention of erecting in its place the new doctrine of the divine right of 'your state,'" he said, "for no state ever was or is worthy of a free man's worship."

The prime minister told the gathering "the young king and queen whom we have delighted to honor on these memorable days are servants of a sovereign people. To them they have dedicated themselves. That is the magic of a monarchy that is everlasting. The king is the symbol of union, not only of the empire but of a common view of the fundamental nature of man."

Baldwin, asserting Europe was neither at war nor at peace but "at armed anarchy," added:

"For every soldier who died at the front another is taking his place. For every ship sent to the bottom of the sea another rides the waves. And for every aeroplane brought down, to earth 20 sail the skies. * * * That in itself is a sufficiently melancholy reply to all the efforts of lovers of peace."

In reference to the League of Nations he asked whether the league of the Versailles treaty that ended the Great War should be entered on the credit side.

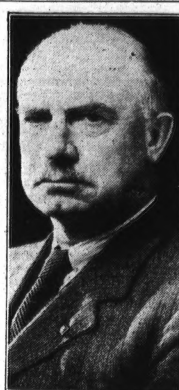

"Twenty years ago we should all have said 'yes.' To-day the reply would be doubtful, for both have belied the hopes of mankind and they have given way to disillusion."

Baldwin said the big problem of the coming quarter-century would be the problem of government. He urged his hearers to take an interest in government.

"From to-night onward, and for your lives," he said, "put your duty first and think about your rights afterwards."

Declaring, "I have had my hour

LEADS GOOD-WILL PARTY

and will soon pass into the shade," the prime minister told his audience; "you are the governors of the future. You are in charge of our honor and all our hopes."

He said democracy as well as dictatorship needed courage, discipline, efficiency and leadership. Alluding to the warlike state of the world, the prime minister said:

"Peace in some quarters is proclaimed as a bad dream and war is glorified as the ideal for national men. As long as the British empire lasts we will raise our voices against these 'false gods.' The statement 'draw loud cheers from the youthful audience.'"

The prime minister then made his reference to the king as the servant of the people and ended with the advice:

"Use men as ends and never merely as means, and live for the brotherhood of man which implies the fatherhood of God."

Baldwin spoke earnestly and with marked emotion. He received an ovation before and after his address that was continually interrupted by cheering.

Fresh Fish Export Trade

To Establish Credit Investigation Bureau In New York

Ottawa.—A conference of government officials interested in the fresh fish export trade to the United States will be held here this week. It was announced by officials of the trade and commerce department. Representatives are expected from Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

The main purpose of the conference will be to establish a credit investigation bureau in New York as a protection against fishermen sending goods on consignment to persons who later prove financially irresponsible.

Declaring, "I have had my hour

Dies In Russia

Death Reported Of Dr. Harry G. Timbres Of Edmonton

Edmonton.—Dr. Harry G. Timbres, internationally known for his brilliant work in bacteriological research, died at Kazan, Russia, May 12 of typhus contracted while carrying out anti-malarial experiments for the Tropical Institute of Moscow, according to word reaching here.

Dr. Timbres is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Timbres of this city and was educated in Edmonton public and high schools. He graduated in medicine at Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, Md., afterwards taking a post-graduate course at the London School of Tropical Diseases.

SAYS IRISH FREE STATE IS LOSING BRITISH MARKET

Dublin.—A charge the Irish Free State was allowing trade opportunities to slip through non-attendance at the imperial conference, whereas Canada's policy in regard to important she sent a group of ministers and the prime minister to discuss preliminary arrangements, was made by John Costello of the opposition as the daily eireann discussed the conference.

As trade figures proved, Costello said, Canada knew how to do business. He read extracts from an Ottawa blue book on the publicity and other activities of the Canadian high commissioner in London and argued the Free State was "cutting off its nose to spite its face."

While the Free State wrestled with formula, Canada and the other dominions slipped the policy of the Irish share of the British market.

President De Valera, in a speech the opposition declared was directed at delegates to the imperial conference rather than the Irish public, referred to the policy of Great Britain and the problems of partition of Ireland and land annuities.

Although matters of interest were being discussed at London, he said, the Free State was not represented because a grave misunderstanding would result through attendance.

"If we went it would be assumed the Anglo-Irish position had reached a point that the Free State is able to sit in as people whose differences have been settled," he said.

The Free State would have walked out of the 1932 Ottawa economic conference, had it not gone on the invitation of the Canadian government, because of Britain's attitude the Free State's word could not be trusted.

Outstanding matters must be settled before co-operation and good feeling were possible between Britain and the Free State, he said.

"The chief problem is partition, due primarily to the action of British politicians who divided the country, setting up a foreign parliament not corresponding to reality."

If the British said "we cannot coerce Ulster" then his reply would be: "Why coerce half the Ulster area. If there is to be no coercion then apply the principle all round."

Dealing with annuities he asserted amid applause of his supporters that so long as he remained in office he would refuse to hand over a single penny.

De Valera replied: "The money is being extracted from us by superior strength, in spite of the will of the people. If we wanted to go back we could contend the annuities were money payable to persons who confiscated Irish land, driving out Irish people."

Waving documents, the president challenged any deputy to produce house records showing ratification.

"I want everyone to remember," he said, "that the economic war between Great Britain and the Free State is due to the unsound bargains of the opposition."

"England is not paying her war debt to the United States, contending the burden is too great. That debt amounts to $30 per head of the population of Great Britain, while the annuities amounted to $3.33 per head of the population of the Free State. How much heavier is the Free State burden?" he demanded.

Frank McDermott, opposition, agreed the British, historically, had the main responsibility for partition. But partition now was due to the state of feeling in Northern Ireland. If relations could not be made satisfactory except by decision of the British by their kith and kin in Northern Ireland then he predicted relations would never become satisfactory.

BUILDING SCHEME SUCCESS IS BASED ON FAIR DEALING

Ottawa.—Fair dealing by all concerned is the only basis on which success of the home improvement plan can be based, the national employment commission declared in a statement.

The commission, founder of the loan plan, said the statement was prompted by "items and editorials appearing in the newspaper referring to increasing cost of building materials to increasing cost of building materials on the ground they will retard recovery."

The plan had come into being by co-operation of the Dominion government and the banks and had been successfully promoted by public-spirited citizens. It had become a beneficial factor in the recovery of Canada through co-operation of those who borrow and those who sell materials and services under it.

"Any partner in this co-operative loan plan," the statement proceeded, "whether he be supplying material, performing labor or having work done, who is guilty of abuse in any form hurts the plan and those who are working for it."

Necessity for restoring prices to a fair level was recognized and it was only natural they should swing upward with return to normal conditions.

Many Volunteers Slain

Estimated Third Lose Lives In Spanish Conflict

Madrid.—American volunteer battalions in the Spanish civil war were estimated to have lost almost a third of their number in death.

Reliable sources placed the number of United States citizens killed while fighting on the government side at more than 500, or 30 per cent. of the 1,700 reported to have enlisted since the conflict started 10 months ago.

Military observers estimated 1,000 British volunteers have enlisted on the government side and that 600 of these have been killed.

The number of French volunteers was placed at 15,000, of whom 3,000 have been slain.

An overwhelming majority of the American volunteers lacked previous military experience. The largest contingent was the 16th infantry, or Abraham Lincoln battalion. This group originally was composed of 400 men who entered Spain in December and January and went into the thick of the action on the Jarama river south of Madrid on Feb. 12.

Dick Merrill Visits Toronto

Trans-Atlantic Flyer Dines With Ontario Premier

Toronto.—None the worse for his near crack-up in landing here, Dick Merrill, trans-Atlantic flyer, dined with Mitchell Hepburn, Ontario's premier. Other guests were his co-pilot, Jack Lambie, and Ben Smith, New York broker and backer of Merrill's coronation flight to London after return to New York.

A thousand persons who gathered to see the hero of two Atlantic double crossings rushed toward the big silver monoplane after it almost cracked up after striking a mudhole on the Toronto Flying Club field. The big ship bounded and awayed dizzily before coming down on its wheels.

He said he would never again bring a ship down on the field here unless it was in much different condition. The risk was too great.

To Humanize War

Ask Factions In Spain To Abandon Bombing From The Air

London.—The International non-intervention committee decided to ask both factions in Spain's civil war to abandon "entirely the use of bombing from the air."

The belligerents who also hurried to "humanize" the war, other ways, though the committee did not say how this was to be done. A draft of the appeal is to be drawn up for approval at the next meeting of the committee.

New Air Base

Belleville, Ont.—The entire flying personnel of Camp Borden will be moved to the Royal Canadian Air Force base near Trenton, June 15, it was reported here. Ninety officers will be quarters at the air base instead of the present 25. A new unit of "seaplane and air navigation" is being organized. The expensive Blackburn Shark bombers recently acquired will also soon be flying.

Among the most colorful participants in the Coronation festivities in London were the four orderlies from India who were in attendance upon His Majesty. This picture shows the orderlies when they visited Buckingham Palace.

MANY INQUIRIES
FROM TOURISTS

A flood of inquiries from prospective tourists indicates that Canada will have a record business year in that respect.

Last year, tourists spent $131,000,000 in Canada, it is estimated. This year bids fair, however, to exceed the previous peak year in boom times when tourists brought $250,000,000 worth of business to this country.

The extensive publicity campaign carried on has resulted in the heaviest volume of inquiries yet experienced by the Canadian Travel Bureau. Naturally, the great percentage of these were from the United States.

Last year, Alberta got about one-half of one per cent of the money spent by tourists in Canada. It did not get any more than one-tenth of what British Columbia got from tourists, though Alberta's beauty spots and playgrounds eclipse by far those of the coast province.

"The reason is that British Columbia has hard surfaced highways," says an official of the Alberta Motor Association. "Tourists won't come to Alberta when they can travel elsewhere over hard surfaced highways."

Cold figures confirm the statement. Experience in the United States shows this to be a fact.

The tourist is looking for new fields to conquer. But he does not desire to make such conquests at the expense of his motor equipment and uncomfortable driving over bumpy, rough, dusty or pot-holed highways.

Alberta will take her rightful place in the tourist picture when her highways are hard surfaced.

Fair And Warmer

The editor of a country newspaper received from a subscriber the query "Can you tell me what the weather is likely to be next week?" In reply he wrote: "It is my belief that the weather next week is likely to be very much like your subscription." The inquirer puzzled his head for an hour over what the editor was driving at, when finally he happened to think of the word "unsettled." He sent a cheque the next day—Wiarion (Ont.) Echo.

The Albertan maintains that our highways are in good condition. Someone should give the editor a "joy ride" over certain well known sections in the south.

Alberta has this week experienced copious rains from Edmonton south to the international border. The north country is still badly in need of moisture.

The Oddfellows' hall at Scotsburn, Nova Scotia, was destroyed by fire on May the 12th, with loss estimated at $6,000. The fire is believed to have originated from a lighted cigarette.

Mrs. W. Goodwin, of Bellevue, and her sister, Mrs. L. Blomfield, of Calgary, were guests of honor in the city recently at a farewell surprise party prior to leaving for a holiday in England.

At the annual session of the Alberta State Council of the Knights of Columbus, held at Calgary, last week end, Frank O. McKenna, of Pincher Creek, was elected state deputy for the years 1937-38.

CO-OPERATIVE DEMOCRACY

From experiments in economic and social welfare started six years ago at the St. Francis Xavier University, Antigonish, N.S., a new co-operative movement has been created which is now well established in a small area of eastern Canada and has aroused keen interest among students of and participants in co-operative ventures in the rest of the Dominion.

The movement is based primarily on the old doctrine of group and community effort to work out economic salvation, but application of this doctrine has been improved and modernized to meet depression requirements.

Education of those who are to be helped to save themselves is the primary task. Groups of depression victims are guided in a study of their own particular problems and then given moral and in some cases financial support in working out the solution. The education, however, does not stop at material welfare. Cultural, social and recreational development is recognized as an essential, if secondary factor in building up the little Utopias which are the idealistic goal.

The system developed for introducing and organizing the co-operative units in the Maritimes, with its emphasis on preliminary education and instruction and on co-operative cultural-social activity, has attracted the attention of economists, producers and others interested in the co-operative movement in other parts of the continent. Numerous individuals and groups have journeyed to Nova Scotia to study the working of the scheme at first hand, and studies are being made to determine whether the plan, in whole or in part, can be adapted to cope with similar conditions elsewhere.

Thus far, concrete results of the experiment are still confined to Nova Scotia and New Brunswick and, within the former province, chiefly to the Cape Breton area where the influence of the university is directly exerted. Here the movement has its centre in a department of adult education under the direction of Professor A. B. MacDonald and Dr. M. M. Coady.

As a working basis, the department has taken the study group. In these groups, directed by university economists, the needs of the community are discussed and an efficient economic remedy sought. In general the results today can be measured in the success of 73 credit unions in the province, 25 co-operative stores, credit union banks and manufacturing plants, including 35 lobster plants. In the eastern part of the province, it is estimated that members of these credit unions within five years will control close to one million dollars. In Glace Bay, with a population of 1,000 miners, 800 are credit union members.

At the same time from these study groups there is growing something in the nature of local culture. Call it limited, if you will, for as yet the movement has concentrated on study, social and economic lines. Literary and artistic expression has yet to come.

At present there are over 12,000 members in 1,100 study clubs in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. The movement has been taken up in Newfoundland and steps are under way to test the applicability of the system to sections of central and western Canada. A survey of co-operative ownership in eastern Nova Scotia reveals:

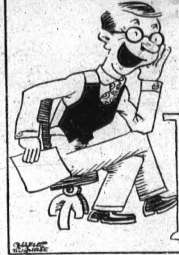

1. Partners in credit unions, 14,000.
2. Partners in consumers' societies, including the British Canadian Co-operative, 5,480. (This does not include four new stores opened in 1937).
3. Partners in fish co-operatives, 635.

These 18,000 share partnerships in folk-economic institutions that are valued at more than $625,000. It may be said that this is small; but it has been built up by poor people. Its growth must be slow. Haste would destroy it.

During 1936 alone, 150 men and 150 women's study clubs were organized.

ized in the centre of the Cape Breton coal industry at Glace Bay. There were also 19 associated study clubs formed throughout the same district. Other endeavors during the past year include the opening of two new co-operative lobster factories in the Cape Breton area, one at Malin-Dieu and the other at Little Bras D'Or. A co-operative sawmill was also established at Johnstown.

One of the major organizations to be formed during the past year under the guidance of the movement was the Cape Breton Dairymen's Association. This organization will purchase the milk of Cape Breton farmers and after pasteurizing it at its new plant at Sydney will distribute it throughout the community.

Central libraries have also been established at Glace Bay and New Waterford in the centre of the Cape Breton coal fields. Branches have been opened at Dominion, Florence, and Little Bras D'Or. In the mining districts of Cape Breton the New Waterford credit union has a membership of over 1,000 and a similar membership is registered at the various other credit unions operating throughout the Cape Breton coal fields.

The small fishing village of Alder Point, N.S., is a typical example of the new democracy now rising up in eastern Nova Scotia. Here 100 Cape Breton fishermen, nearly beaten by the present upset economic conditions throughout the world, came through and solved their own economic salvation by co-operative measures and now have restored faith and hope in the future.

Five years ago a large percentage of the villages were on relief. They were faced with fallen prices, disorganized sales methods, and glutted markets.

On the shores of Alder Point today is a two-story building erected at an estimated cost of $5,000. It contains the latest equipment for canning fish and the estimated value of the equipment is $1,000. On the other end of the point stands another large building. It is a fish meal plant and also contains considerable equipment. Men are coming in and out of the plants, lobsters are being handled and the canning plant is employing 55 young men and women who are sending its products to the four corners of the world.

The actual operation of the Nova Scotia plan was launched in 1930, as a ramification of the extension and social welfare operations of St. Francis Xavier University. Inauguration of the scheme was preceded by some years of study and experiment by Professors MacDonald and Coady, to determine how best the co-operative idea might be developed to benefit the people in the districts involved. Operation of the work has been financed largely by the Carnegie Corporation and to some extent by privately subscribed funds—Financial Post.

Miss Norma Plante, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Plante, of Coleman, was graduated from the Royal Jubilee hospital at Victoria, B.C., on May 6th, having completed her three years as nurse-in-training.

NEWS FROM EDMONTON
(By C. H. Stout)

Alberta's political chariot race is swinging round the last turn of the season and both insurers and government entries are averring madly from side to side as the teams battle it out neck and neck. Which will be definitely in the lead when the dust clears away on June 7 has the country speculating. So far close observers can see, little change has resulted in the campaign for position since the legislature adjourned on April 14. Premier Aberhart undoubtedly failed to strengthen his position by a number of broad-based speeches in the legislature. Insurgents claim to have accomplished a great deal with their "flying wedge" campaign of explanatory speeches in various centres of the province.

Suggestions of a truce have come from the government camps. The necessity of "getting together" has been stressed by loyalist advocates, and one or two insurgents have publicly admitted that further co-operation is advisable. On the whole, however, those who broke with Premier Aberhart over policies and leadership during the first stanza of the assembly session claim to be more than ever determined to remove the premier and his advisors from their posts and "get along" with a trial of social credit.

Glen L. MacLachlan, coronation officer of the newly created social credit board, saw the coronation in London which the premier missed, but he barely saw Major C. B. Douglas, father of social credit, whom he was commissioned to interview and to induce him to return to Alberta. Mr. MacLachlan apparently is coming home in time for the June session, but without Major Douglas. Opinions of insurgents that the major would not come to Alberta while Mr. Aberhart occupied the premier's chair would appear to be substantiated by the interview of Major Douglas in London wherein he was reported as stating that he was "going away for some weeks after a preliminary talk with Mr. MacLachlan."

Much public quizzing from his former fellow members of the insurgent "committee of ten" probably faces Mr. MacLachlan when he returns to his seat in the house. Those who follow the newspaper headlines are aware of the commotion caused in civil service circles during the last month. W. N. Chant, minister of agriculture, headed the parade of dismissals and retirements when he was forced to give up his position to D. B. Mullen, social credit member for Edmonton. Mr. Mullen in turn asked for the retirement of J. C. Carlyle, for more than 20 years livestock commissioner. W. Holdstock, chief clerk of the livestock branch, a war veteran with a leg lost on French battlefields, and 24 years service in the government, was dismissed. Back to the agricultural department from the lands and mines branch came the game staff, with commissioner J. A. Hutchinson remaining in the lands offices, Archie Bagley, fur and game inspector, resigned in protest over the change and another inspector, C. F. Bentley, was reassigned. W. H. Wace was appointed chief game guardian under the new setup.

In the public works department minister W. A. Fallow walked into a hot line of public criticism when he summarily let out deputy minister Homer P. Keith and highway's commissioner C. A. Davidson, officials directly in charge of all highway construction and maintenance, for periods of from 12 to 18 years. Into Mr. Keith's office went George Monkman, a comparative newcomer on the government engineering staff. Hon. Mr. Fallow said the shake-up was for the purpose of "reorganization" but public opinion in Edmonton has been stirred over the dismissals at a time when the season's highway work should have been commenced. Road conditions throughout the province have been reported serious with rebuilding and improvement operations practically at a standstill. Unless the year's budget is passed shortly after the house reassembles appropriation for public works cannot be more than one-quarter of the year's estimate, under limitations of the interim supply bill supported by the house on March 31.

While Mr. Aberhart has full authority to call the house together prior to June 7, under the terms of a resolution adopted during the last two or three days of the adjourned session, it is considered highly improbable that there will be any advance in the date. Nor is it likely an election will be sprung within the next month or two. No funds are available for an appeal to the country until the house votes either for the budget or another special allowance. The cabinet cannot raise any money by governor's warrants until the house is prorogued. Mr. Aberhart has hinted at dissolution unless warring factions come together, but it would appear no one but himself would favor another campaign at the present time. Both insurgents and loyalists denounce an election idea. Liberals are not in favor. Conservatives are openly opposed, and other groups and parties are equally opposed. The lieutenant governor will refuse to sanction a vote.

Liberals, however, have come definitely to life with their convention to choose a leader set for June 4 and 5 in Calgary. Indications are that the delegates, several hundred strong, will go outside their established enclosure and name Edward L. Grey, of Brooks, former deputy minister of municipal affairs, as their white horse. Even Liberal house leader J. J. Bowden is vigorously backing the candidacy of Mr. Grey. Conservatives recently held an executive meeting in Calgary and launched preparations for any emergency election, while the Alberta People's League, still officially leaderless, have formally approached other parties with a suggestion that

REVENUE FROM MOTOR-ISTS GREATER THAN
GOVERNMENT EXPENDS

Throughout Canada and the United States protests of motorists over the exorbitant taxes imposed upon them are becoming more and more vigorous.

These taxes were imposed for the purpose of building and maintaining roads, although most governments refused to earmark motor revenues definitely for highway purposes.

In most of the states and provinces, motorists have actually paid larger sums than have been spent on road-building and maintenance. In most cases also the governments "bought on credit and sold for cash." That is, they took the motor revenues into current account and spent them for general purposes, but borrowed the greater part of the money spent on roads, thus building up a huge bonded debt.

This combination of debt building, and unfortunately in some cases extravagance, was bad enough in normal times. But when the depression arrived, governments promptly stopped spending money on roads, where ever it was possible for them to stop anything, but continued to collect from the motorists in license and gasoline tax at the same or higher rates.

A united front be made against social credit.

Taken by and large, the political situation is tense and decidedly uncertain. Many things may happen when the legislature gets back in the traces next month, but one outstanding fact at the moment appears to be that a general election at this dizzy stage in Alberta's mad scramble would fail to settle anything. Having done a heavy and decisive job of voting less than 20 months ago, electors appear to be a bit tangled at the moment when the representatives have wrestled themselves into it. When the storm subsides, the sea-sick taxpayers may be able to spy out some land and get the ship of state on its way again.

Tim Buck will address a public mass meeting at Fernie on Sunday at 8 p.m. His subject will be "The General Situation in Canada."

From Our Own Correspondents

COWLEY HAPPENINGS

Cowley's traditional sports day, May 24th, opened with frowning skies, and not until noon was there any indication of a break, when the sun peeped through the heavy clouds and everybody felt better. Not that rain was not welcome—in fact all the surrounding districts received a generous soaking over the week end but this immediate vicinity. However, a fair crowd finally gathered, and the usual programme of races and ball games was run off. Harvey Rosenberry and Bob Cooper, of Pincher Creek, judged the races, while Wall Eddy, our veteran starter, set them going. Following is a list of winners in the various events:

Five-eighths pony—Cohen, Brown, time 1.09.
Half-mile Indian—Bastian, Eagle Plume, time .56.
Five-eighths open—Sanford, Northwood, time 1.04.
Mile Indian—Bastian, Eagle Plume, time 1.59.
Half-mile saddle—Stewart, Good Rider, time .56.
Mile open—Sanford, Stewart, time 1.48.
Mile and half relay—Crowsaw, Big Swan, time 4.55.
Five-eighths democrat—Crowsaw, Yellow Horn, time 1.29.
Baseball—Blairmore from Lundbreck, Coleman from Hillcrest. Final, Coleman first, Blairmore second.
Softball—Pincher Creek won from Brockle Indians.

A heavy rain fell over the farming and ranching country in the North Fork and Porcupine Hills districts the early part of the week, and there is much rejoicing over the prospects for better crops in grain and hay, and the refreshing of grazing areas.

Farmers are complaining that young grasshoppers are showing up quite numerous in some localities, but as yet have done no damage to growing crops.

On Sunday last, the Bellevue junior choir of 35 girls and boys, under the capable leadership of Mrs. Upton, beautifully rendered a cantata in the United church. Rev. Mr. McDonald, who is in charge of home missions for Southern Alberta and Southern Saskatchewan, gave a short talk on the home mission work from the Atlantic to the Pacific. There was a good turnout for the service.

The store operated by M. A. Murphy, and containing the postoffice, was broken into shortly before midnight Friday. Mail carrier Robert Littleton found the front door open when calling for the mail at 12 o'clock. He threw his flashlight over the interior and disclosed a man hiding behind a counter, who ordered Littleton to throw up his hands. However, he jumped through the door and closed it, calling for help. Getting no response, he had to meet the train, which was then entering the station. The thief in the meantime made his escape, breaking out the balance of the plate glass in the door, which he had broken to enter after an ineffectual attempt to jimmy it with a large screwdriver. Const. Bull, of Pincher Creek, was soon on the scene. Mr. Littleton could only describe the man as wearing a light checked cap, and the postmaster then furnished the name of a party, a recent arrival, who wore such a cap. A visit to his domicile by Const. Bull found him in bed, but with incriminating evidence in the pockets of his clothing, consisting of several small articles of candy, matches, cards and lighter, also a heavy screwdriver. Persistent questioning by Const. Klassen, of Blairmore, who had now arrived, elicited a confession from the lad of 19, Dennis Zuckodnik, that his object was to steal money, but found none. He was taken to Pincher Creek in custody of Const. Bull, where he was later sentenced to a term in jail. A thorough but unsuccessful search of the town was made by several citizens before arrival of the police.

HILLCREST HAPPENINGS

Helen Gregory and John Albizzati were successful competitors in the Lethbridge musical festival.

Miss Mary Stevenson left Friday last on a visit to the Old Country. Mrs. H. Creighton attended the funeral of Mrs. J. Wood in Edmonton.

John Price, one time resident of Hillcrest, was accidentally killed in the mine at Mountain Park last week. A number of relatives reside in Hillcrest. John left here less than a year ago to seek a new field of labor.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Fisher were visitors to Lethbridge last week.

Miss Bessie Davies, of the Hillcrest teaching staff, was visiting in Calgary last week end.

Mrs. Alfred Taylor, of Vancouver, came to Hillcrest to attend the funeral of her mother, Mrs. Margaret Anne Harris.

Miss Audrey Martin and Miss Marion MacDonald were motor visitors to Calgary over the week end.

Mrs. Shelby, of Milk River, and Miss Alice Greener, teacher at the Clareholm school, were visitors with their parents here last week.

George Grant was in Calgary last week.

The Bellevue juvenile softball team defeated the Hillcrest nine on Wednesday by a score of 2-0.

BELLEVUE HAPPENINGS

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Goodwin and Luther, and Mrs. J. Hill returned last week end from Edmonton, where they had been to attend Luther's graduation at the University.

Jack Hutton, of Edmonton, is spending a few days visiting his mother, brothers and sisters.

Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Woodhouse, after spending several days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Harrison, returned to Fernie on Tuesday.

J. Tutt and I. Haysom were visitors to Great Falls, Montana, over the week end.

W. Goodwin is spending a few days in Calgary.

The pulpit of the United church on Sunday evening was occupied by Rev. Dr. McDonald, mission superintendent.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Meade returned Wednesday of last week from a five months vacation spent in Honolulu and Vancouver.

Miss Marguerite White, who spent a two weeks' holiday here with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Peters, returned to her home in Vancouver on Wednesday.

Although the morning was cloudy and the air chilly, Old Man Sunshine came smiling through to bring a nice afternoon for the large Victoria Day programme. From 10 o'clock till noon the junior races were run. At 1:30 the parade left the school grounds, headed by the R.C.M. Police, and the West Canadian Collieries' band. Next in line was the nicely decorated truck, on which rode the May Queen and her attendants, followed by the "Covered Wagon"—a wagon representing the Mohawk mine with the miners in work clothes and instruments of toil on the heap of coal; then another float representing the Red Cross Society, and the third representing Canada from its earliest days to the present. Two clowns doing tricks on horses brought shouts and cheers from the large crowd. The major event of the day was the crowning of the May Queen, Miss Freda Wolstenholme. The queen was crowned by a well known and highly respected citizen of Blairmore, Mrs. Pinkney, senior. Following the crowning ceremony, little Betty Allison presented the queen and her attendants, and also Mrs. Pinkney, with bouquets of flowers. The remainder of the afternoon was spent in dances by Miss Kyrk's pupils and boys trained by Mr. B. Goodwin. The folk dances by the Bohemian group from Coleman were very much enjoyed and appreciated. The Bellevue boys won the junior

KING SOLOMON

A little girl tells the world what she knows about King Solomon in the following essay:

"King Solomon was a man who lived ever so many years ago, and in the country in which he governed he was the whole push. He was an awful wise man, and one day two women came to him, each holding to the leg of a baby and nearly pulling it in two, and both claiming it; and he said, 'why couldn't the brat have been born twins and stopped all this bother?'"

Then he called for his sword and was going to chop the brat in two and give each a piece of it, when the one who was the real mother cried, 'Stop, Solomon, stay thy hand, let the old hag have it. If I can't have a whole baby I don't want any.' Then Solo told her to take the baby and go home and wash its face, for he knew it was hers, and he told the other woman to go chase herself. King Solomon built Solomon's temple, and was the father of all the Masons. He had 700 wives and 200 lady friends, and that is why there are so many Masons in the world. My papa says that King Solomon was a warm member and I think he was hot stuff myself. That is all I know about King Solomon."

John D. Rockefeller, aged 98, died at his winter home, "The Casements," Ormond Beach, Florida, on Sunday. The remains were laid to rest at Cleveland, Ohio, on Thursday.

William T. Ramsay, aged 50, Ottawa business man and prominent in fraternal organizations, passed away on Wednesday. William K. Ramsay, of Coleman, is a son.

The annual conference of the United Church opened in Calgary Wednesday with Rev. Dr. Thomas Powell, president, presiding, and an attendance of 300 ministers and lay delegates.

The rotunda and beer parlor of the Cosmopolitan hotel has been treated to spring cleaning. In the process all fingerprints and footprints have been obliterated.

Word came through from Ottawa on Friday last to the effect that Arthur Morris, former resident of Blairmore and secretary of the local union of the M.W.U. of C., had been killed in action in Spain.

It has been suggested that, in the interest of real economy, some of the cabinet ministers be laid off for five days a week. They should be able to live comfortably for a week on one day's salary.

It used to be that the groom at a wedding would be supported. Nowadays it usually happens that forever after the ceremony the groom, the bridegroom, and all their offsprings have to be supported.

Convicted of being in illegal possession of liquor, Eldred Ash, a Coleman mine employee, was sentenced to three months in jail, or the option of a fine of $500. The accused took the jail term.

Tourist: "How's business hereabouts?"

Native: "It's so quiet you can hear the notes at the bank a block away drawing interest."

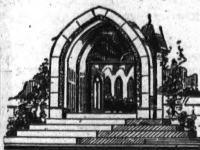

softball competition, while Coleman won the senior.

Commencing at 8 o'clock, a grand variety concert was held in the auditorium of the United church, which was very well attended. Then, bringing a very successful day to a close was the dance held in the I.O.O.F. hall by the Horticultural Society, with music by the Alternati orchestra.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Anderson, of Trail, are visiting at the home of Mrs. Anderson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Jordan, senior.

Miss Margaret Litherland, of Calgary, spent the week end visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Brown. Mr. H. Meade, accompanied by the Rev. R. Upton, left by motor Wednesday afternoon for Calgary.

It has been reported that there are over sixty cases of measles in town.

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

Queen Mary has opened a new wing at the City of London hospital for diseases of the heart and lungs.

The original cast of Napoleon's head, made after his death at St. Helena, was sold for $750 at Christie's.

Marcus Dixon, 16-year-old Oxford schoolboy, fell down a cliff to his death on Lundy Island in the Bristol Channel while photographing wild life.

The United States commerce department credited reciprocal trade agreements with speeding an increase in American exports to the 16 participating nations, including Canada.

A total of 3,893 persons in one day paid 10 shillings ($24.00) each for the privilege of walking through Westminster Abbey and gazing at the spot where George VI. was crowned.

Canada's external trade soared nearly $25,000,000 in April compared with April, 1936, according to figures announced by the National Revenue Department.

The London News Chronicle predicted when Prime Minister Baldwin resigns and is raised to the peerage he will be known as the Earl of Clebury or the Earl of Clee, because of the Shropshire origin of his family.

Since reindeer were driven to Demarcation Point, 400 miles east of Port Barrow, a threat of famine among the Eskimos had been largely abated, according to Rev. F. C. Klerkoper, of Barrow.

More than 300 rare violins covered by insurance exceeding $2,000,000 were displayed at Cremona, Italy, at opening of an exposition commemorating the 200th anniversary of the death of Antonio Stradivari, master violin-maker.

Idol In Court Case

Sacred Hindoo Image Lost Appeal

To British Privy Council
A small, metal female idol, so sacred that she is never touched, figured for 20 years in litigation which has come to an end before the judicial committee of the privy council. Members of the committee, with the surplus of London's traffic in their ears, can never have heard a stranger story. The idol was constructed about the middle of the 10th century, by two Hindoo brothers. They installed her in their home and began to worship her. Their business began to prosper rapidly.

In 1888 two sons of one of the brothers dedicated land to the idol by a deed. Later, there was an arrangement for partition of the property. This led to litigation, and the high court at Fort William, Bengal, held that the idol was entitled only to part of the property specified in the deed and the income from the rest.

It was against this decision that the idol, through her abbat or guardian, appealed to the judicial committee, which upheld the finding of the Bengal court, and ordered the idol to pay costs.

The idol, which is about a foot square by six inches deep, is in the form of a swastika, or rather eight swastikas, all made of different metals and laid one on top of the other. It is kept in a room devoted solely to its worship in a specially built house.

The priest appointed to attend it renders acts of worship, burns incense before it and makes offerings of sweets and flowers, which are afterwards given to the poor. It is a common thing among certain Hindoo families, particularly in Bengal, to establish such family idols. Trusts are formed under a special Hindoo law, under which property is vested in the idol in perpetuity.

Will Keep Wartime Promise

Welsh Peer Entertaining Men He Led In France

Lord Davies of Llandudno will fulfil soon a promise he shouted to his men as he led them "over the top" in France, 22 years ago. Unemployed miners, teachers, business men, and others from all parts of Wales will be guests at his home for a fortnight in July. During the war Lord Davies was Colonel-in-Chief of the Welsh Fusiliers. As he led one attack, he called along the line that all who came through should spend a fortnight at his home. Now the invitations have gone out. Ex-Private George Bennett of Connecticut, may be one of the guests. He is accompanying a Welsh-American contingent to the National Elstisford at Machynlleth.

Mother—"Did you sterilize the baby's milk to kill the germs?"
New Maid—"Oh, my, yes, ma'am. I ran it through the meat chopper twice."

Promoter Of Friendship

King George Doing Good Work With His Vacation Camp

A key to the outlook of the man who has been crowned ruler of the world's greatest empire may well lie in the story of the principal pet hobby of George VI. It is a boys' camp in Southwood, an experiment in social service which the King maintains at his expense.

This is no ordinary vacation camp. An idea motivates it. The plan is to bring together a number of British public school boys—from Eton, Harrow, and other well-known schools—and a group of youngsters from the industrial districts. These associate at the yearly camping holiday, taking part in games and all sorts of activities.

A distinguished British writer who visited the camp with the then Duke of York described the astonishing lack of class consciousness and perfect comradeship that prevailed. Moreover, the boys seemed quite at ease with their royal friend, whom they first cheered and then splashed while they all bathed together.

If George VI. is the kind of man boys like, he is the type men are certain to admire. Bringing out harmony and friendship between so-called "upper class" youngsters and the sons of factory workers, he is helping to lay the groundwork of co-operation between capital and labor. Teaching boys to work and play and live together, King George is using a very good foundation plan for the men and women of the home country and the whole British Commonwealth of Nations—indeed, for all mankind—Christian Science Monitor.

Future Man

Will Have Only Six Teeth In Each Jaw Predicts Dentist

A million years from now everybody will look like Andy Gump and there will be only 12 teeth for every human, Dr. Charles A. Sweet, of Oakland, Calif., told the Ontario Dental Association at its annual meeting in Toronto. "Future man will have only six teeth in each jaw," he said.

The doctor said that prehistoric man had four molars, but that, one by one, they were being replaced by teeth to crack dinosaur bones and much corn were disappearing so that the wisdom tooth was on the edge of extinction. Man will in time lose his laterals and other teeth and will have very little chin and a huge head.

"We haven't the teeth that the cave man had," said Dr. Sweet. "Only five out of a hundred of the aborigines had teeth trouble. But if anybody lives in the world today just trusts to luck with their teeth there's only one chance out of 2,500 that they'll die with a full jaw."

Wants To Learn Flying

Bishop Of Arctic Enjoins To Pilot His Own Plane

Cured of "Arctic blindness," Bishop Paret of Alaska has returned to his beloved Eskimos on Canada's northernmost rim with a new aeroplane and a new ambition—the ambition to fly. The Roman Catholic bishop stopped off at Toronto long enough to say goodbye to his 74 years in the Arctic and believes he is yet young enough to learn to fly.

Only three times in the 24 years has the bishop quit his mission, this time to get treatment for his eyes, blinded by too long a period of darkness. He also obtained in the United States a few months ago the passenger "The Santa Maria" and the plane was flown to the Arctic ahead of him.

The Usual Celebration

On his 82nd birthday, George Maurer, Dale, N.Y., went through with his annual headstand as scheduled, but his worried wife refused to witness it. Maurer, farmer and former blacksmith, has done this on each birthday for the last 20 years. He explained his wife had objected because he was too old a man.

A Government report shows that on American farms these days, two-thirds of the bread eaten is baked in commercial bakeries instead of the farmers' ovens.

So that all aircraft on main routes may be in constant vocal touch with the chief landing fields, six short wave radio stations will be established in Australia.

Worry is as useless as it is to tell people not to worry.

The Great Canadian Bird Sanctuary

Miner Sanctuary At Kingsville Is World Famous

Everyone knows of the wonderful bird refuge at Kingsville, Ontario, Canada, and the humanitarian work conducted there by Mr. Jack Miner. "It is no exaggeration to say that the Miner sanctuary at Kingsville is world famous," says the Toronto Globe.

From all quarters of this continent and from lands beyond the sea, visitors each year make a pilgrimage to this shrine to view a work, the fame of which has travelled far and wide. Mr. Miner is to-day, one of the great naturalists of the world, and his lessons of kindness have been the means of instilling into countless young hearts, a deep and lasting love for birds and all the wild things of nature.

Jack Miner is a poor man, but his home and bird sanctuary are beautiful. The sanctuary has been beautified with hundreds upon hundreds of trees. It requires a fund of $20,000 annually to maintain the place and the birds, and supply labor connected with its upkeep.

Jack Miner's friends have incorporated what is known as "The Jack Miner Migratory Bird Foundation," with the hope of raising a trust fund by gifts or bequests, of one million dollars, to perpetuate the place and make the famed spot an international park, where young and old can go and see the birds alive. As one writer has said, "A park for the people of America, surrounded by the Christian influence of God's living creatures."

Any person of wealth wishing to contribute by direct gift or bequest, can get full particulars and a 16-page, well-illustrated booklet, free of charge and postpaid, by writing The Jack Miner Migratory Bird Foundation Inc., at Kingsville, Ontario, Canada.

Irish Music

Adjutant Sees Ireland Has Much To Learn From Canada

Northern Ireland has much to learn from the young people of Canada according to D. T. Yacamlin, lieutenant of the Royal Academy of Music and one of the judges at the Carrickfergus festival.

During his visit to Canada, he said, the instrumental work he heard would take one's breath away. On one occasion in Winnipeg, more than 400 competitors took part in the violin and piano classes. Entries were small in the instrumental section at the festival and Yacamlin confessed he was disappointed with the performances. Carrickfergus is a few miles north of Belfast.

Would Take Time

It would take three years to increase the output of beef in Great Britain, two years to increase mutton, and one year to increase bacon production in a national emergency. Those calculations were given to the British House of Commons by the minister of agriculture.

After all, there's quite a bit to be said in favor of an inferiority complex. For instance, when you meet it on the highway it doesn't cling to seven-tenths of the available pavement.

An optimist is one who would expect a heat wave any time now.

EYE-APPEAL IN DAINTY PANEL

FRICK THINGS MADE IN A JIFFY

By Anne Adams

There's feminine appeal aplenty in this winsome Summer-day Frick. And imagine how appropriate it will be for all warm-weather occasions—informal visiting, entertaining at home, shopping, or just "taking it easy" on the porch. You just can't wear it without it—for you'll wear it constantly. There's special smartness to a row of sparkling little buttons that call attention to the chic of the trim yoke. And just see the diverting flared sleeves that may or may not wear a narrow cuff. Pattern 4416 is surprisingly easy to make, too, for it's composed of the simplest of pattern pieces. Loosely to behold in soft printed voile, dainty chiffon, brightly colored crepe, or figured dimity, or colorful tulle.

Pattern 4416 is available in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42. Sizes 16 takes 3 1/2 yards 38-inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included. Send twenty cents (20c) in coin or stamps (coin preferred) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly: Size, Name, Address and Style Number, and send order to the Anne Adams Pattern Dept., Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 175 McDermott Ave. E., Winnipeg.

Honorable Artillery Company

King George A Member Of Ancient Society Of Boston

King George VI. has become an honorary member of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company, 300-year-old military society of Boston.

He was formally elected to membership after his willingness to accept had been read to the "ancients" assembled in historic Faneuil hall. Admission of King George gave the society, for the first time in its history, two members from Britain's ruling family. The Duke of Windsor was elected to membership while he was king and that membership remains in force.

Prince Albert, consort of Queen Victoria, was the first of the royal family to accept honorary membership in the ancients and each succeeding generation has furnished other members.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

NO DAY FOR SCHOOL MAY 30

THE REMAKING OF JACOB

Golden text: Be not fashioned according to the world; but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind. Romans 12:2.
Lesson: Genesis 29:1-32:20.
Devotional reading: Psalm 32:1-5.

Explanations And Comments
Jacob's dream at Bethel, 32:10-15. Jacob was fleeing from Esau's wrath and was on his way to Haran. Quite by accident, he would seem from the expression "He lighted upon a certain place," he came to a hillside near Bethel, and remained there all night.

For a pillow, he could find nothing better at hand than the stones about him, and one of them he put under his head as he lay down to sleep. Such a practice is common in Africa at the present time. When Bishop Taylor returned from Africa he had no pillow for his pillow, and more than once substituted a headdress of books.

Jacob's dream-ladder the angels of God were ascending and descending, symbolizing the thought that there was communication between God and man. Before this Jacob knew that God is; now he learned that God is accessible. When he was living at home, where his life was made comfortable by the favoritism of his father, there was no room in his mind for a revelation from God. When alone on the rocky hillside, with no one to help him, he found him susceptible to divine influence. Providence often thus prepares the way for revelation.

And then in Jacob's dream Jehovah appeared beside him and spoke words of encouragement and hope. Just as the story landscape where he was lying was woven into his dream, so colored by the light of a shining, shaded around noon is preferable to protect the blooms from being scorched by the sun. The flowers will benefit from a thorough soaking during the hot, dry weather.

Telephones In France
May Soon Rival United States In Their Use

France soon may rival the United States in the number of telephones and their use by the general public. To-day France boasts almost a million and a half telephones installed in homes and offices, or one for every 35 inhabitants of the country.

Telephone service in France soon will be overworked, to judge by the figures issued by the ministry. Last year there were 900,000 calls, or 1,737 calls per minute on an average.

In busy parts of the day this number naturally is much higher.

Internationally calls to London, New York, Tokio, Shanghai, Sydney, Moscow, Berlin, Bucharest and other centers tallied a 3,600,000 calls. It is calculated that French calls can be put in touch with any one of 30,000,000 telephones in every corner of the world within ten minutes at the most.

And the services which have been instituted in Paris by telephone officials are a service for medical aid, a time bureau which is operated by an automatic clock with a mechanical dial which repeats the hour every ten seconds, an alarm clock service to awaken people and finally an automatic taxi call service.

Depends On The Dose

Whether New Fertilizer Makes Vegetable Large Or Small

The giant gooseberry and prize pumpkin will soon hide their heads in shame, if the new fertilizer just perfected by Dr. Joseph Seltel, chief medical officer of the Hungarian State Railways, does all that is claimed.

Noticing that certain dyes helped wounds to heal quickly, Dr. Seltel experimented upon plants. The results were astonishing, many species growing to five times their normal size and reaching maturity far more quickly than usual.

The name given to this giant-producing fertilizer is "Photosensin." It is put up in powder form and is very cheap to produce, so we may soon see it in general use by farmers and market gardeners. "Photosensin" might have come out of "Alice-in-Wonderland," for while a normal dose makes a vegetable grow into a giant, an overdose reduces it to a midget!—Montreal Star.

Heavy Nickel Production
Production of nickel reached the record total of 15,193,641 pounds in March, it was announced by the Dominion bureau of statistics. Increased production probably was due to increased plant in Europe. For the first three months of the year, nickel production totalled 51,697,328 pounds, almost 6,000,000 pounds higher than the corresponding period last year and almost 23,000,000 pounds higher than in 1935.

Living was cheap in the old days. Junior's happiness was provided for with a stick of licorice instead of a tank full of gasoline.

In the preference of Americans, beef ranks first and pork second.

Television Will Grow
No one knows just how many television sets are in operation in London now, but about 2,000 is the usual estimate. The number will remain small while there are only two short programs in the day and while television sets remain so expensive. But there is no doubt that in ten years television will have made ordinary work less an out of date as talkies have made silent films.

One high school in New York City has 10,000 male students.

CASUALTIES AT THE CORONATION

So great was the crowd that witnessed the coronation in London that numerous casualties were recorded. This picture shows the busy ambulance men administering first aid to a woman spectator who fainted in the throng. This is a radio soundphoto.
